

Man goes fishing in flooded house after Hurricane Harvey

By David K. Li

August 27, 2017 | 12:25pm | Updated

Give a man a fish, he's fed for a day.

But teach a flood victim how to fish with his bare hands, he can eat through Hurricane Harvey!

KTRK in Houston shared this amazing footage Sunday of a shirtless Space City man grabbing a fish swimming in flood waters that have engulfed his home.

“UNBELIEVABLE: Houstonians fishing INSIDE their home – near I-45 and Monroe,” tweeted Antonio Arellano, a social media correspondent for the station.

The video was first posted in four separate tweets by Houston resident Viviana Saldana showing the fish swimming through a kitchen and living room.

The shirtless man can be seen diving head first into the indoor waters trying to grab the fish.

pic.twitter.com/Jb8kWaYUDf

— Viviana Saldaña (@EsaVivvy) August 27, 2017

FILED UNDER FISHING, HURRICANE HARVEY, TEXAS

Recommended by